Situation Grave in Laos, Ike Confers Castro Orders U. S. Embassy Cut to 11

Wednesday Night Is Deadline Premier Declares Office Has Spies

HAVANA (AP)—U.S.-Cuban relations grew more frayed today with a drastic order from Prime Minister Fidel Castro for a slash of the U.S. Embassy staff here to 11 by Wednesday night.

In a wrathful prelude to the U.N. Security Council meeting Wednesday, when Cuba will air new charges that the United States plans to invade Cuba, Castro declared the U.S. Embassy was filled with spies directing counter-revolutionaries.

He said the U.S. staff would be reduced to the same number that Cuba maintains in its embassy in Washington.

Invitation to Leave

Although the prime minister said he was not breaking relations with the United States, he invited the entire staff to leave Cuba.

"We are not breaking with them," he shouted. "If they want to go, let them go."

Thousands of Castro's followers massed in Civic Plaza roared their approval with shouts of "Cuba si, Yankees no" and with demands that the United States give up its naval base at Guantanamo in eastern Cuba.

At the big glass-walled U.S. Embassy, Charge d'Affaires Daniel Braddock got his first word of the order to reduce the staff from 87 to 11 as he watched Castro on television.

No Cuban Ambassador

Six months ago there were 120 on the staff. U.S. Ambassador Philip Bonsal was recalled last October and embassy wives and children were sent home last September. Cuba has not had an ambassador in Washington for months.

The embassy said it was awaiting official notification whether Castro's order meant to cut the staff to 11 persons in all or to 11 officials plus secretaries and other non-diplomatic personnel.

The embassy said it will be necessary to reduce its services to the minimum. The visa section was closed today to await instructions from the State Department. About 50,000 Cubans have visa applications on file.

Bruhn Is Appointed To Supreme Court Job

Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller today announced appointment of Ulster County Judge Louis G. Bruhn to the Supreme Court bench to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Justice Sydney F. Foster.

Appointment of Judge Bruhn to the Supreme Court, Third Judicial District, is effective today. He will serve under the appointment until December 31, 1961. An election of a Supreme Court Justice will be held at the next general election.

Backed by Wilson

Judge Bruhn's appointment was made by Governor Rockefeller upon the recommendation of Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, who is chairman of the Ulster County Republican Central Committee.

When asked today by a Free- man reporter who will be named to succeed Bruhn as county judge, Assemblyman Wilson said the appointment is wide open and will not be finally decided upon until leading members of the Ulster County Bar Association have been consulted.

The embassy said it will be necessary to reduce its services to the minimum. The visa section was closed today to await instructions from the State Department. About 50,000 Cubans have visa applications on file.

Rocky's Message To Ask Harmony And Cooperation

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller, looking toward his campaign for re-election next year, will stress harmony and cooperation in his annual message to the Legislature Wednesday.

The Republican governor, who has had a full measure of trouble and conflict with the GOP-controlled Legislature during his first two years in office, will try to avoid controversy during the next two years of his present term, sources close to him report.

Rockefeller will open the 1961 legislative session with his message to a joint session of the Senate and Assembly in the Assembly chamber.

While his message will not be public until then, some parts of it have been reported from sources close to the governor. He has announced publicly his policy in other areas.

As a result, the general impression is of a message that will stress tax relief, concern over growing unemployment, plans for

Announces Oum Forces Take Key City Back From Rebels

By RENE-GEORGES INAGARI

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Prince Boun Oum's government announced today that its forces recaptured the key northeastern city of Xiengkhouang from pro-Communist rebels Monday night. Information Minister Bouavan Norasing said the city was retaken by a battalion of paratroopers that jumped 3½ miles east of Xiengkhouang.

Norasing's announcement was the government's first admission that the rebels had taken Xiengkhouang. The minister said Tuesday troops loyal to his pro-Western government were holding out at Ban Ban, 30 miles northeast of Xiengkhouang, and that as far as he knew the key city had not fallen to the rebels who last week seized the strategic Plaine des Jarres, with its cross-country highway, and an airfield outside Xiengkhouang.

A U. S. Embassy spokesman in Bangkok said the United States has evacuated from Vientiane "all American personnel whose activities were restricted" by the crisis. He added that personnel attached to the U. S. Information Service and other agencies are going back to Vientiane in what he described as a "two-way movement."

The spokesman said most of the 200 Americans evacuated from Laos in the past two days were U. S. aid administrators whose activities were hampered by the fighting in central Laos.

Ambassadors of the eight nations forming the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) met in Bangkok, capital of neighboring Thailand, with SEATO Secretary-General Pete Sarasin. The ambassadors, who included U. S. Ambassador to the United States, took no action.

Sarasin told newsmen SEATO has circumstantial evidence of foreign Communist intervention in the fighting but the Laotian government already had disclosed the evidence he cited—airdrops by Soviet planes to the rebels and two captives the Laotian government said were North Vietnamese troops.

Western observers in Vientiane maintained serious doubts about Laotian charges that as many as 3,000 invaders from Red North Viet Nam have joined the pro-Communist Pathet Lao and leftist rebels in central Laos.

Laos is not a member of SEATO. Sarasin said the organization is pledged to help the jungle kingdom combat any Communist invasion, but the Laotian government has not asked for help.

Democrats Take Control of N. Y. House Delegation

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
Associated Press Special Service
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democrats today take control of New York's delegation in the House of Representatives for the first time since the Democratic administration of former President Harry S. Truman.

The occasion is the swearing in of 43 New Yorkers, including 5 freshmen, as members of the House in the 87th Congress.

The 22 Democrats and 21 Republicans were elected Nov. 8 to represent the state for two years. The last time Democrats controlled the New York House delegation was in 1952.

But because both Sens. Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating are Republicans, the GOP will retain its lead in the number of New York members of Congress. Republicans held a 24-19 edge in New York House members during the 86th Congress.

The committee is made up of two House Republicans — John Taber and William E. Miller; two House Democrats — Emanuel Celler and James J. Delaney; and one Senator — Javits. Celler is chairman.

All five New York freshmen

House members have selected offices in the new House office building across Independence Avenue from the Capitol.

Carleton J. King, Saratoga Springs Republican, the only new Upstate House member, will take over the office used by his retiring predecessor, Rep. Dean P. Taylor, R.

King's first choice for a committee assignment is the judiciary committee, with public works and commerce as his second and third choices.

It is up to party leaders and the committee on committees, however, to make committee assignments.

Panama to Consider Break With Cuba

Two Masked Men Slug Owner, Rob Tuttletown Inn

Wearing stocking masks to shield their identity, two men entered the Gifford Tavern at Tuttletown, Town of Gardiner, early New Year's Day and made a getaway with about $130 after slugging two men with blunt instruments.

Trooper Wallace Mahan of Highland, said troopers received a telephone call at 3:40 a.m. on January 1 from Mrs. May Yeaple reporting two men had robbed the tavern. Trooper patrols on duty hurried to the scene. According to Mrs. Yeaple, she and her husband, Norval Yeaple, 72, operator of the tavern, and David Townsend, of Walden were in the establishment at 2 a.m. when a man entered and walked to the bar. Some time later the second man walked into the place, both wearing masks.

The men slugged Yeaple and Townsend on the head causing scalp lacerations. The men then bound Mrs. Yeaple, her husband and Townsend with twine and fled the place. Troopers said it took about an hour to remove the twine and call authorities.

Yeaple and Townsend were treated for head injuries by a New Paltz physician. Later they were taken to Vassar Hospital for further treatment.

About 70 major countries of the world have Red Cross societies.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JANUARY 3, 1961

NO ONE-WAY STREET

No one expects the Soviet Union or any member of the Communist orbit to give up misrepresenting the United States before the world. But there is no reason why we should not be better understood and appreciated by the rest of the family of nations.

It is both tragic and wearying that in so many quarters our clear dedication to peace and to the betterment of human welfare at home and abroad should be taken at something less than face value.

To the extent that this misunderstanding is America's own fault, we must hope that efforts are made in the years just ahead to blot out any wrong impressions.

The emphasis has got to be put on the positive, peaceful side of our endeavors rather than on the negative, military side. And every American from the president on down must find the means of conveying to peoples abroad that our sympathy with their struggle for advancement is strong beyond doubt.

But understanding is always a mutual thing, and in the postwar years there has not been too much mutuality about it where the United States is concerned.

From those beyond our shores, new nations or old, freshly come to independence or still seeking it, we have a right to expect a reasonable attempt to see America in the full light of its history, its background and its problems.

Why, for example, should it be impossible for them to understand that we are caught between two fires on the issue of colonialism?

Throughout this nation's lifetime it has been thoroughly committed to support for the aspirations of those seeking self-determination. It is also a fact that our strongest allies in the defense of world freedom happen to be—or to have been—important powers.

In this dilemma there is no black-and-white course for us to follow. If the struggling peoples of the earth want our sympathy, it does not seem too much to ask that they give some in return, on such delicate issues as our colonial position.

Let them ask themselves, too, why they find it so easy to view with suspicion a country like America which has an unmistakable commitment to peace and freedom and justice.

And why, in turn, are they so ready to take at face value the patent frauds of communism, whose whole history and performance speaks of aggression, injustice and oppression?

Understanding is a two-way avenue and it's time our friends abroad opened up their side of the street.

U. S. prestige is said to vary abroad. For example, it's fairly high in Britain but not so high in Russia.

ARE WE CIVILIZED

Another much-wanted Nazi has been found in Germany. For 15 years, former S. S. Major Richard Baer, last commandant of the infamous Auschwitz concentration camp, has been living the life of a quiet, sober workman.

It is a reverberation of an almost unbearable phase of the war in which what we must take to be normal human beings participated without question in years of brutal, uncivilized acts. It is a dark chapter, incomprehensible to most Americans.

LUCK AND CAUTION

It was slick under wheel, but here was one driver who wasn't going to let that interfere with his homeward progress. He headed briskly for the intersection—and arrived there as the light, already on amber, switched to red. Whereupon this bold citizen clamped on his brake—and slid out into the aforesaid intersection like S. Claus hustling to make up time late Christmas Eve.

As it happened, Abner Nuckelhead (for such was his name) was in luck. The drivers poised to move on when they got the green light saw Abner coming, and they

POLICY AND PERSONNEL

The new Administration is beginning to take shape. The task is not simple. President-elect Kennedy will have to appoint a vast number of persons to all sorts of positions. He can pursue a political course and select those who are partisans; he can appoint those who are recommended by various persons, for obviously he cannot know all who have to be chosen; he can keep on many Eisenhower appointees.

Thus far, his pattern seems to be to select non-political persons who are efficient but who will not have too great a voice in policy. The State Department is an example. Dean Rusk is not a policy man. During the years that he has not been in office, he played no public role. When he was in the State Department, during the Truman Administration, he was not concerned with policy which was the function of Dean Acheson, a forceful personality. Chester Bowles, the Under Secretary, has opinions on many subjects, particularly Asia, but in his position he is not likely to have too much time for policy. Paul Nitze, who planned policy for Dean Acheson, is sent to the Pentagon where he will surely not be involved in foreign policy. Adlai Stevenson goes to the United Nations where he will have to compete with the reputation of Henry Cabot Lodge which will not be easy. At any rate, if Khrushchev rattles a shoe at Stevenson, we shall see what a fighter he is. Douglas Dillon who helped President Eisenhower make policy is over in the Treasury under the new regime.

Obviously, as one looks at this personnel, it is clear that John F. Kennedy, as President, will make his own foreign policy. I have read his campaign speeches to discover a pattern. There is none in the speeches. We shall have to wait for the policy to unfold.

So far as the Treasury is concerned, the appointment of Douglas Dillon as Secretary of the Treasury would indicate that the President-elect would favor a balanced budget and hard money. On the other hand, although Douglas Dillon started life as a banker and the son of a banker, he has never been dominated by a Wall Street concept of national financing, which is narrow and in many respects not in the public interest. It was anticipated before the Election that should Kennedy be elected, he might have appointed Eugene R. Black of the International Bank or John Jay McCloy who is chairman of the Chase Manhattan Bank. Instead he chose Douglas Dillon, out of the State Department.

The Attorney General has often been a political appointee. The most recent ones in that office have been Homer Cummings, Frank Murphy, Robert Jackson, Francis Biddle, Tom C. Clark, J. Howard McGrath, James F. McGranery, Herbert Brownell, Jr., and William P. Rogers. Frank Murphy, Robert Jackson, and Tom Clark went to the Supreme Court.

The Attorney General has a large amount of patronage to dispense and he can use that as a political club to keep Congress in line for a President. He can rebuild a political party by patronage. The appointment of Robert Kennedy would indicate that the President-elect is protecting his rear from political stabbing. During the Eisenhower Administration, the Attorney General's office was not politically very effective which may be one of many reasons why in areas like New York State the Republican Party fell apart. President Eisenhower never managed to understand the nature of political structure, Vice President Nixon's principal adviser in his campaign was the Attorney General, William Rogers.

The Department of Labor is comparatively recent. Created in 1903 as the Department of Commerce and Labor, in 1913 it was separated from Commerce. No great national figure or even outstanding labor leader has thus far served in this office. The following have been Secretaries of Labor since 1913: William B. Wilson, James J. Davis, William N. Doak, Frances Perkins, L. B. Schwellenbach, Maurice J. Tobin, Martin P. Durkin and James P. Mitchell.

President-elect Kennedy has appointed to this office Arthur Goldberg, a labor lawyer with outspoken, decided opinions on the relationship of organized labor to the national economy. A man of unusual attainments, completely independent of political pressures, he is likely to be a policy-maker. He touches on a field in which Robert Kennedy is an expert. The combination of an upright Secretary of Labor with a co-operative Attorney General could open a new era in American unionism.

Be the Life of the Party—
Start New Year With Bang

I doubt whether there's anyone who doesn't get a big thrill out of seeing his or her name in the newspaper.

Here are some suggestions for getting publicity—of a sort—on Jan. 1 or 2:

• Don't let the fact that you have to drive home keep you from enjoying yourself at that New Year's Eve party. After all, you know your capacity. Never mind what others try to tell you.

• Take an extra set of car keys with you. Then, if some smart alec thinks you're not fit to drive, you can teach him a trick or two.

• Don't waste time putting on chains if the road is slick or iced. A good driver, who knows how to use his brakes, doesn't ever go into a skid (it says here in the obituary files).

• Don't take any advice from the back seat driver even if it happens to be your wife. After all, you drove cars when she was still riding a bicycle.

• Never mind about the ads the liquor companies put out about moderation and all that guff. They're just afraid of another prohibition amendment. You're on to them and all that malarkey about "the public service."

• If the attendant at the gas station offers to "fill you up with coffee," let him know where he gets off. There are plenty other gas stations on the road.

• And if the cops in a prowler car offer to take your place at the wheel and drive you home just tell them to concentrate on real criminals and stop molesting honest citizens. After all, this is no police state. The Communists aren't running this government. A man can still drive his own car to his own home if he feels so inclined.

Of course, there's no guarantee that these suggestions will get your name in the paper. Still, there's a good chance that you'll make the local gazette if not the news services.

And think of what a thrill you'll get when you see your very own name right in the casualty list. That is, if you can see through the bandages. And if you're still around where papers are sold!

WASHINGTON (NEA) —

What to do about the foreign aid program is one of the Kennedy administration's biggest problems.

There's ample dissatisfaction with the way foreign aid is being run now. A few people like Sen. Barry Goldwater would abolish it altogether. That's the extreme, minority view.

But even supporters of foreign aid who consider its abolition not only impossible but also crazy are not satisfied with the results now being obtained.

This dissatisfaction is not based solely on scattered disclosures of inefficiency and waste.

It is based primarily on realization that needs of countries eligible to receive the aid are changing. So the kinds and methods of giving aid must be changed to meet new conditions.

IN THE 15 YEARS that the U. S. has been in foreign aid business—fiscal 1946 through fiscal 1961, ending next June 30—about 900 billion dollars' worth of aid will have been furnished. It has averaged four billion dollars a year in economic assistance and two billion dollars a year in military assistance.

Foreign aid enthusiasts—at the opposite end of the scale from Goldwater—think this isn't enough. They want two or three billion dollars a year more. The need is there.

But explanations of who is to furnish this money are not forthcoming. And the size of the program does not now receive as much attention as does its character and quality.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

of the backward countries is no longer considered enough. There must be development of free political institutions along with it, under new concepts. This means not just anti-Communism but constructive independence and democracy—the democracy of 1776 restated in terms of 1976.

There is a further new emphasis called for on education, housing, land reform and self-sufficient agriculture. These are not the big projects of river valleys, dams and power, steel mills and high industrialization new countries want for prestige. They are the more fundamental improvements that reach down to the common people and improve their standards of living.

Those were some of the points brought out in the recent Washington Conference on International Economic and Social Development. It was the annual meeting of representatives from about 100 nongovernmental church, education, labor and farm groups and private foundations interested in foreign assistance.

There was some expression of opinion that the government ought to get out of direct foreign aid and turn it over to private business, religious and welfare organizations—to run on government subsidies, of course. The thought was that, "The business of the State Department should be to run foreign policy—not be to fertilize plants."

of foreign aid is mentioned

ed, bureaucrats pop up with diagrams of how it should be done. For instance—there should be more multilateral assistance given through the U. N. instead of bilateral, country-to-country aid. But this may not be practical yet.

It is largely gobbledegook, anyway. Foreign aid has already been shuffled and resurfaced from MSA to FOA to ICA and from Point Four to TCA. All this alphabet-mixing just mixes up the recipients of foreign aid and destroys staff morale to boot.

The organization they have is good enough. What it is said to need most is some dedication and enthusiasm such as it had in Marshall Plan days. Today he draws a distinction—as did so many political writers and campaign speakers—between the prestige of American foreign aid and a worn-out, if not dead horse.

Three Ex-PresidentsKennedy Faces Question Of Using Their Experience

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation will have three ex-presidents and three former vice presidents—but will probably find little or nothing for them to do—when Dwight D. Eisenhower steps out of the White House Jan. 20.

The three former presidents—Eisenhower, 70, Truman, 76, and Hoover, 86—have had vast governmental experience.

It has been argued the country could well use that experience. That's debatable.

The Indonesians contend they need heavy arms because they are threatened by Dutch forces in western New Guinea. They say Western nations have refused to sell them anything but small arms.

Kennedy, a practical politician who may be looking for reelection in 1964, is not likely to build up the prestige of Nixon, who ran again against him in 1960 and may run again.

Wallace, who served one term under President Roosevelt, has been unattractive to Democrats since he broke with them in 1948 to run on the Progressive ticket for president against Truman.

Garner, too old for strenuous activity, has been out of the political picture since 1941 when he retired to his Texas farm after two terms under Roosevelt.

Both Truman and Eisenhower used Hoover to head commissions for reorganizing the government. Both men got on well with him. But neither assignment required any advice from Hoover on broad White House problems.

It is reported that the planes will be used to replace the Douglas A-4 Skyhawk, which has been used in the Korean War.

Mayor Gives 1960 Report,

person on the payroll of the Department of Public Works was required to clear the debris from the city streets and sidewalks. The several hundred trees which fell on private property, had to be removed from the sidewalks. Property owners considered them as regular refuse material. Half of the crews of the Department of Public Works were engaged in this work, the other half returned to the street program and other projects.

From September 12 to October 6 the hurricane cost the city $6,730,000 in labor alone for the removal and carting of brush, tree limbs and trunks. Another $1,000 had to be spent when one tree uprooted on Wilbur Avenue ruptured the Wilbur Avenue trunk sewer. This required a complete repair job.

Regardless of delays and unanticipated excess cost, the street program did accomplish many streets during the past year.

Because of the success of the street program during this past three seasons, it is my intention to include in the 1961 goals, the continuation of this program of street repair and reconstruction in all wards.

Building Maintenance

Two full time painters assigned to the Building and Supply Committee gave a coat of aluminum to the Municipal Auditorium roof for the first in almost 25 years. They painted the city court room and did other projects in the city hall.

According to the mayor the work has preserved as well as beautified the building, and is worth what it costs.

The administration plans to continue repainting and redecorating throughout the year doing as many major city offices possible also buildings under control of the committee.

In addition to the civic building maintenance program, the board of fire commissioners, the mayor said, have taken the challenge of preserving firehouses.

More Take Home Pay

The City administration and Common Council authorized the City government and its treasurer to pay to the State Retirement System on behalf of all city employees registered under that system five per cent of their total payment for retirement system contributions.

This expense was normally paid by the employee as a direct salary deduction and forwarded periodically to the state with the city's share of retirement contributions. Under the new plan inspired by state government and adopted locally, the city now contributes to the state fund five per cent of the actual gross salary of each employee in the plan.

This increase in actual cash buying power by the employee is not affected by any further deductions such as state and federal income taxes. Employee contributions over the years varied. Under this plan employees still pay the balance of total cost to state government, but a move is under way by the state to institute a program whereby municipalities would bear the total expense for all employees in the retirement system.

Under the new plan there is no reason why all employees should not join the system and gain benefits accrued to them.

Salary Adjustments

This year, requests have been received from the police and fire departments for the institution of a pay schedule, commonly referred to as the career salary plan. Requests from both departments exceed $6,000 per year salary for the line personnel.

My activity in the Common Council and as mayor has always been to act upon all requests for salary increases with consideration for both the proposed recipients of the pay adjustments as well as the public's ability to meet the increased costs of such programs. But in all cases where salary raises were proposed, it is my opinion that all city employees should receive consideration.

I more firmly believe today than ever before that municipal employees should receive an adequate salary. Indeed, this should apply also to department heads and others, some of whose salaries have not been raised in many years.

The city must keep its salary increases within its income. The principal source of our income is from the real property taxes paid by the majority of our citizens and which directly and vitally affects the small home owners. It is important to realize that about 25 per cent of all real estate in the City of Kingston is exempt from taxes. The owners of 75 per cent of the real estate in Kingston are paying the taxes for all the people. This situation arises from exemptions allowed for veterans' property, religious institutions, as well as governmental properties that are also exempt.

The superintendent of buildings has reported at the end of the year that during 1960 over $275,100. of new construction was exempt from taxes. While considerable construction has been going on in our city, a high percentage of it is non-taxable and make no contribution towards operating our city while adding greatly to the burden shared by all other taxpayers.

The question is, can our taxpayers really bear additional tax increases, and if so, to what extent. If the raises sought for these two departments were reflected in all departments, the final picture might produce a tax increase of from $7 to $9 on each $1,000 of assessment.

Since this has such far reaching financial repercussion on the taxpayer, I believe the people of this city should have the opportunity to express their opinion in a public referendum on this important issue.

The advocates of this plan use the city of Poughkeepsie as an example, but they fail to consider that even the city put the matter up for a vote at the recent election. We must also consider that city's ability to meet these increased costs through the sales tax which produces some $750,000 yearly.

The salary schedule to industrialized Poughkeepsie is not a criteria for our city to equal. Any plan brought up for consideration should be tailored to our own taxpayers ability to pay the costs.

Our local populations earning power and salaries of comparable local positions should be considered in drawing up any career plan which should then be presented to the public for a referendum.

The Tax Rate

Residents of Kingston pay their county taxes in conjunction with the city charges. The city tax rate therefore reflects much greater costs than the city itself is responsible for.

As an example, the 1961 proposed budget which I have presented to you today shows county costs of $591,582.36. This means that out of every $59.80 the treasurer collects from the taxpayer, $16.20 will go to the county government.

This I must point out, is an increase of over $3 per thousand of assessed value for county costs.

At the same time that Ulster County was raising taxes, my administration showed a surplus for the year 1960. Even with several new budgetary items and increased services, the proposed budget for operating the city government will cost the taxpayers about $1.50 less per thousand of assessed value than it did in 1960.

City Planning

Near the end 1961, the city planning consultants, Raymond and May Associates, will terminate their contractual obligations to the City of Kingston which provided for their supplying a master plan; a comprehensive general plan for the future growth of the city.

During the last 15 months, the cooperation and progress extended by the planning consultants has been that befitting the most responsible agencies.

The comprehensive master plan means many things. A certain amount of time had to be spent in detailing present existing conditions with regard to zoning, property use, and other such basic data which was only available through city surveys at the expense of Raymond and May Associates and then reduced to a map with a scale of one inch to four hundred feet which showed all existing property lines appearing on the city's tax sheets sub-division plans and the present day use of all pieces of property in the entire city.

From these, the basic operations of formulating plans take place.

In addition many other maps were made denoting such things as

The city must keep its salary increases within its income. The principal source of our income is from the real property taxes paid by the majority of our citizens and which directly and vitally affects the small home owners. It is important to realize that about 25 per cent of all real estate in the City of Kingston is exempt from taxes. The owners of 75 per cent of the real estate in Kingston are paying the taxes for all the people. This situation arises from exemptions allowed for veterans' property, religious institutions, as well as governmental properties that are also exempt.

The superintendent of buildings has reported at the end of the year that during 1960 over $275,100. of new construction was exempt from taxes. Industrial Development

Noting that in the past several years some factories have moved to other areas, the mayor said, it is his intention to inspire the appointment of an ex-officio board of five leading citizens to investigate the possibilities of instituting establishment of one or several good substantial industries for Kingston.

This new document produced by Raymond and May Associates is the first of its kind in the city. Heretofore zoning was recorded on a regional basis only. It is now possible to detail the actual zone of each individual parcel of property in Kingston.

The land use map gives a brief but detailed caption of Kingston's activities encompassing such studies as population density, commercial development, shopping centers, industrial areas, school sites, recreation areas and major buildings and facilities.

The general outcome is a comprehensive view into the future of our city with regard to its future development regarding plans for land use, transportation facilities, public facilities, business districts, traffic circulation and parking plans.

Plans for development will ultimately be outlined at the termination of the planning contract and 50 copies will be supplied to the city, describing the plans and containing recommendations by the city planners which will be beneficial to the future growth of our city.

All plans regardless of how efficient or how effective they may be of no value if those people who are empowered to carry out these plans do not look with favor upon them. The investment that the city has made over the past year and a half with Raymond and May Associates is an investment in our future and a necessary burden lies upon my administration and those who succeed us to cooperate to the fullest in seeing that the plans evolved are beneficial to the city and are carried out in a progressive program to have the most beneficial effects upon our city.

Though the anticipated keen interest by the people specifically affected by the urban renewal program has been lacking up to this point, one meeting conducted at the request of the elected officials of two wards, either directly or closely affected by the program met with considerable opposition to the plan. Another meeting is scheduled in the very near future with two other wards who will feel the direct or indirect effect of an urban renewal program in our city.

Though many questions are yet to be answered, our timetable on the renewal program is running very close to the anticipated schedule. As the year 1961 develops we will complete the survey and planning phase of this program.

As the year progresses I will appoint a fairly large committee of the city's representative groups to act as liaison and advisers to me and for the general public so that this or future administrations will not lose sight of the fact that in rebuilding our areas we are serving the public and the taxpayers and these people must get maximum consideration in making the many serious decisions that must be made.

Off-Street Parking

The past year and a half has seen a major construction program by the State Department of Public Works within our city limits, creating for us a new access route to the New York State Thruway. It also provided a separated and divided arterial interchange at the intersections of Albany Avenue, Saint James Street and the interstate connection to the Thruway.

Many people were skeptical before the opening of this interchange to traffic, that it could never work, or that it would cause more confusion. It was felt that the signalization would be conducive to accidents in this area. Since shortly after its official opening, and with only slight modifications on the traffic signalization timing which is operated through a radar controlled unit, this interchange has performed most efficiently.

Similar programs are planned affecting other sections of our city and these will concern parking in the business areas as well as the final elimination of the Washington Avenue viaduct.

Traffic Control

During the past three years, all traffic signals heretofore not equipped with an amber warning light between the change from red to green, have been altered wherever possible to incorporate this safety feature without major reconstruction.

It is anticipated that during 1961 we will accomplish a major portion of the modernization of the remaining two-colored signals.

A vivid example of the effect this program has had upon safe movement of traffic is displayed by the new system at Hurley and Washington Avenues.

Our accident rate here has been high and we instituted new controls on all lanes of traffic moving each as an individual segment by separate lights.

The results have been very gratifying and what once was a severe traffic problem area has been cured greatly by proper use of available modern methods of traffic control.

This administration looks forward to a continuation of the coming year in other problem areas during 1961.

Colonial Gardens

This is the first time in any administration to my knowledge, a fund has been started to accommodate the growing need for off-street parking facilities in our community.

In my proposed budget for 1961 I have included a sum of $10,000 for approval by the Common Council, termed "OFF-STREET PARKING". It is not anticipated that a comparatively small fund of $10,000 will perform miracles. It is believed however, that this is a starting point for the city of Kingston to pursue and survey the situation so that the need for parking may be fully realized and proper steps may be taken to assure the city and the businessmen who are a considerable portion of its financial life blood that provisions are being made for our future.

With a total population of 354 people, of which 184 are children, this garden type apartment project has operated since August 1953 providing extremely fine living quarters, and with the normal turnover of renters, has suffered the loss of not one penny in uncollected rents or charges.

Originally established to accommodate a large veteran's population, it is no longer necessary to be a veteran to qualify for an apartment.

Since it was established, 10 apartments have been designed and set aside exclusively for the new roadway at-grade level.

Up to the time I assumed office, hearings had been held, but these hearings were closed without prejudice to being re-opened at any given time by the governmental body. Early in my administration I sponsored a request to the Public Service Commission, asking that they re-open the hearings. Based upon the data and information presented by the corporation counsel, and by myself and other members of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce and the Uptown Businessmen's Association, the Public Service Commission has since issued an order to the New York State Department of Public Works, calling for the demolition of this structure and the creation of the new roadway.

It is my intention during the coming year to press the New York State Department of Public Works for action on this matter at the very earliest possible time.

Some plans have already been divulgued, calling for complete demolition of the viaduct and removal of the old narrow steel bridge.

In their place it is expected that a four lane divided highway served by a new wide bridge on a new location will connect the city with the Thruway traffic and extend to North Front Street.

Mayor Gives 1960 Report, mit establishment of a teen-age canteen where youngsters can gather in their spare time.

In recent years people in and around the city make use of park facilities for picnicking, sports and pavilions.

This has been especially true of church groups. To further accommodate these people the Recreation Department has established new rest room facilities in Hasbrouck Park. In 1961 we have planned similar facilities on a better location in Lawton Park.

State Parks

I have kept up a program of constant pressure on the State Parks Department to establish a state park facility in the Kingston area. It has been my opinion that it high time to establish a state park close to the center of Ulster County population now over 115,000.

While some counties throughout our state have enjoyed a multitude of swimming, boating, golfing, picnicing and other sports facilities, we in the Kingston area have had to travel great distances to participate and enjoy these sports.

With the advent of the governor's and the state park commissioners program for a $75,000,000 Park improvement program I feel that it is high time that this general area in Ulster County and more specifically surrounding the City of Kingston should be given more consideration. In my opinion the most logical way is for the appointment of a park commission for Ulster County and the Catskill State Park section.

Kingston Point Park
For the past 11 years both as an alderman and more recently as mayor, I have displayed a receptive attitude towards the enlargement of our park areas.

This year, in the passage by the State Legislature of a $75,000,000 park program, as well as its support by the general public, a state fund has been provided to aid municipalities in securing land. The residents of our city in the November 8th referendum supported this proposition over 2 to 1.

Under this law, three quarters of the cost of land will be borne by the state government. The city pays the remaining one quarter. All development costs over and above the purchase price are also paid by the city.

I can report that the City of Kingston was the first municipality in all of the 62 counties of New York State to request state aid from the $75,000,000 bond issue for the establishment of park facilities.

An application has been filed with the State Parks Department and we are anxiously awaiting an affirmative answer, making the necessary monies available for the City of Kingston to contract for purchase of two parcels in Kingston Point area.

Appreciates Cooperation

In concluding, the mayor said there were other important subjects to touch upon, but he would cover them in his printed message. It will be available soon.

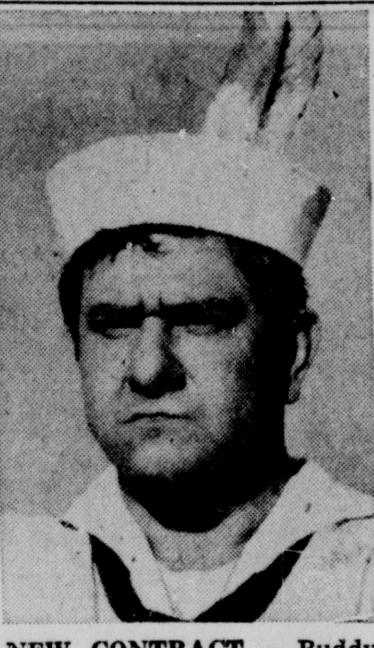

The mayor said he would be remiss if he did not recognize the cooperation of the Common Council in supporting his programs. "With the continued cooperation of this honorable body I visualize 12 busy but productive months extremely beneficial to the welfare and well-being of our citizens."

CLYDE, N.Y. (AP)—Six empty cars of a 98-car New York Central Railroad freight train derailed off the tracks at a crossing on Route 31, Sunday east of this Wayne County village.

None of the train's crew was injured. A railroad spokesman estimated damage at $40,000 and said the cars were probably thrown from the tracks by a broken wheel or loose track tie.

Form Available For New Federal Tax Deductions

Form 2948, the new Federal tax schedule to aid taxpayers in computing the more liberal medical expense deductions they are entitled to if they, their wives, or their dependent parents are 65 or over, is now available at Internal Revenue Service offices.

Local district director James A. O'Hara said a new law, passed this year, provides that the deduction for medical expenses incurred for a dependent parent 65 or over will not be reduced by 3 per cent of adjusted gross income, as in the past.

Furthermore, as in prior years, if either the taxpayer or his wife has reached age 65 before the close of the tax year, the medical expenses of both can be deducted without being subject to reduction by 3 per cent of adjusted gross income, he added.

The tax official said the new Form 2948 will clarify instructions covering these deductions which will accompany Forms 1040 and 1040W were mailed to taxpayers after the Christmas holidays.

Most taxpayers are not affected by these special provisions and they may continue to compute their medical expenses deduction on the regular Form 1040 or 1040W as they have done in the past.

Taxpayers may get additional information or assistance with more complex situations by telephoning or visiting the nearest IRS office.

Traffic Deaths In State Lower, Fire Toll Higher

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York's count of 17 traffic fatalities over the long New Year holiday was lower than for recent, comparable holidays but a fire toll of 15 for the three days was the state's highest for a holiday in a decade.

The fire toll in New York also was the highest in the nation during the period that began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday. Several states counted more dead in traffic accidents.

One person died in another accident in New York during the period.

At least three of the traffic accidents were attributed to treacherous driving conditions and two other persons died of heart attacks while shoveling snow in the wake of a blinding New Year's Day storm across Upstate New York.

The snowbelt area at the eastern end of Lake Ontario was buried under two feet of snow. A foot or more brought Western, Central and Eastern New York to a virtual standstill Sunday.

Most of the fatal fires struck in New York City. The latest victims, Mrs. Eugenie Poppyk, 59, and her daughter, Vera, 32, perished in their New York City home Monday when a fire broke out as they trimmed a tree for the Russian Orthodox New Year's holiday.

ICC Rejects New Uniform Rates For Port Freight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission today rejected a proposal for uniform rail freight rates to all north Atlantic ports on export-import freight moving to and from mid-western points.

The decision, by a 9-1 vote, will preserve the lower rate base which Philadelphia, Baltimore and the Hampton Roads area in Virginia have had for more than 80 years. Higher rates apply at the ports of New York and Boston.

Portland, Maine, in general has the New York port rates and Albany, N.Y., is on the Philadelphia rate basis.

In general, the Baltimore-Hampton Roads rates are 3 cents per 100 pounds under the New York-Boston level, and the Philadelphia export-import rates are generally 2 cents per 100 under New York's expected.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off .80 at 220.10 with the industrials off 1.70, rails up .30 and utilities off .30.

But American Telephone, star of the late 1960 market, was jolted by some heavy profit taking as it topped 3% to 100 on an early block of 12,000 shares. It continued to trade about 3 points lower as the session wore on.

Heavy reinvestment demand in the opening session of 1961 did not materialize as some Wall streeters expected.

Montana Senator Is Floor Leader

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democrats today elected Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, a moderate liberal, as their floor leader.

Mansfield succeeds Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, vice president-elect. Johnson is to resign shortly from the Senate seat to which he was re-elected in November while also winning the vice presidency.

Johnson told newsmen Mansfield was elected unanimously by his 62 fellow Democratic senators at the closed-door meeting.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota was elected assistant Democratic leader, a job officially designated as whip, succeeding Mansfield.

Meat Reported Short in Weight

Dutchess county's sealer of weights and measures has filed a report with the Board of Supervisors which shows that about 30 per cent of the packages of meats weighed in 1960 as establishments in the county were shortweighted, and 36 per cent of butter checked was underweight.

J. Edward Dean's report also showed that 28 per cent of all packages checked were shortweighted, and 502 meat packages checked were of correct weight and another 325 were underweight. He also noted that not one package checked was overweight.

Dean also noted that he found 319 packages of cheese correctly marked, 57 were underweight, and none overweight. Dean reported that of 1,111 scales checked, 77 were found to be incorrect, and 100 of the 1,566 measures inspected were incorrect. The report also noted that of 808 weights examined, 61 were faulty.

LAOS SITUATION "DETERIORATING"

U. S. officials in Washington, D. C., reported that the military situation in Laos was "deteriorating." Of immediate concern, it is said, is the fact that Soviet supplied and Communist led Laotian rebels were mounting ever heavier attacks on airfields and towns north and northeast of the capital city of Vientiane. In this 10-10-60 file photo, Communist Pathet Lao troops are shown in Sam Neua, Laos, a town near the North Vietnamese border. (NEA TELEPHOTO)

MAY HEAD ARMY — Gov. Ernest Vandiver of Georgia will become Secretary of the Army in the new administration, the Atlanta Journal-Constitution said Jan. 1. (AP Wirephoto) expanding higher education and a broad, new highway program. He will avoid such controversial areas as fallout shelters, which touched off a storm of controversy in the 1960 Legislature and resulted in a major setback for Rockefeller.

The governor has discarded the task-force approach to government—the delegation of problems to committees of personal advisers, educators and specialists in varied fields. Legislative committees charged with handling the same or similar problems bridled under Rockefeller's strong reliance of his task forces early in his administration.

The governor has left the door open for possible compromise on a residency-relief bill, an issue on which he and the GOP majority split last year. The bill would bar public relief to persons who had not lived in the state for one year. The governor, who suffered a loss in popularity as a result of his record tax-increase program of 1959, the fallout plan and other major issues, now appears to be planning for a sweeping victory in his bid for re-election.

A victory by a margin higher than his half-million-vote plurality of 1958 would enhance his chances of winning what most observers consider his ultimate goal—the Republican nomination for president.

To achieve this goal, Rockefeller apparently is planning to avoid much of the controversy that plagued the first half of his term.

Among the non-controversial issues in his message is a plan for a broad study to determine how salaries of top officials and specialists in state government compare with those in private industry.

The governor reportedly is concerned over the inability of the state to obtain an adequate personnel, such as psychiatrists and engineers.

The study will range to such officials as the state comptroller and attorney general. It will not include the governor himself, however.

"I cannot think of a subject more deserving of our attention today than that of disarmament, and I am extremely pleased that a man of his capabilities and background has seen fit to give his time and energies in this vital area."

The new job McCloy is taking was created by the Eisenhower administration last summer. An organization of about 30 people has been set up, but the top position in the agency never was filled.

"It is intended to be (in the new administration) the central planning agency in the field of disarmament," said Kennedy's press secretary, Pierre Salinger.

There is no present plan for McCloy to sit down at the disarmament conference table with Soviet representatives but he will be planning and working on how to deal with them.

Fires Take 15

stroyed the one-story, block warehouse of the Culver Wholesale Liquor Co. and the adjoining garage of the Hoff Bros. Refuse Service. The owners estimated the damage.

Mechanicville — A downtown, three-story business building was destroyed by flames and an adjoining business and apartment building was damaged during a blinding snow storm Sunday. Eighteen firemen were overcome by smoke.

The fire started, police said, when an oil burner in the basement of the business building ignited fuel that had spilled during a delivery.

Canandaigua — A $100,000 fire destroyed a three-story, brick and frame warehouse and feed mill Sunday of the Grange League Federation (GLF). Firemen estimated the damage.

Oxford — The Zylphane Dress Shop in the downtown business section of the Chenango County village was burned out Monday and two other stores, two offices and the Masonic Hall in the same building suffered smoke and water damage. The fire started in the basement of the four-story building.

Troy — A fire Sunday wrecked the Phi Sigma Delta fraternity house of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute students, who were away on vacation.

The Fair Labor Standards Act, passed in 1938, set the minimum wage level at 40 cents an hour.

White Boycott At New Orleans Has Little Change

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The white boycott of New Orleans integrated schools weakened only a little today after the 10-day holiday vacation.

Twelve white children and one Negro girl attended classes at William Frantz School. Eight white children attended prior to the Christmas vacation.

But, at McDonogh No. 19 School three Negro girls had the three-story school to themselves—just as it was before Christmas.

U.S. deputy marshals still escorted children into the two schools. There were no demonstrations in the biting 40-plus degree chill.

With the holidays over, the New Orleans School Board renewed its struggle to find money to pay teachers, who have missed one of the last two paychecks.

The Orleans Parish school board is scheduled to receive bids Jan. 9 on a $12,750,000 loan. The board has asked the State Bond and Tax Board to authorize the loan. School board funds have been tied up in litigation involving the state and federal governments and the school board.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Police are seeking a thief who likes cheese. Somebody broke into a sandwich company and stole two blocks of cheese—each weighing 40 pounds.

Pennsylvania Man Electrocuted by High Power Lines

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A 28-year-old Pennsylvania truck driver was killed by electric shock to day on Route 31 about three miles north of here when he opened the door of a tractor-trailer on which a high-tension wire had become entangled.

The dead man was Elwood Bierly of Hopkinton, Pa.

Bierly was driving a tractor-trailer south when he saw an automobile driven by Thomas Earnst, 21, of Albion, which had struck a high-tension power pole.

He stopped his truck, and another driver, Joseph A. Gow, 49, of Kingsley, Pa., who was following Bierly in another tractor-trailer, parked his vehicle behind Bierly's, police said.

A high-tension wire was hooked around a rear view mirror of Gow's truck, police said, and Bierly was killed as he opened the door of Gow's cab.

Earnst suffered a broken nose and was taken to Strong Memorial Hospital here.

The Little Bundle, Big Loaf

SAYREVILLE, N.J. (AP) — Bernard Saunders baked a five-foot long loaf of chalah—a Jewish bread—to celebrate the birth of his son.

Saunders, a bakery owner, used 50 pounds of flour to make the 45-pound loaf. "If my oven was larger," he said, "I would have made a bigger one."

Supervisors Will Organize Jan. 5

The Ulster County Board of Supervisors held its concluding session for 1960 Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at which routine business incident to the year end adjournment was transacted.

Dr. Irving J. Josephson of Kingston was re-named deputy commissioner of health for Ulster County until such time as a Commissioner of Health is appointed.

The Ulster County Health Department has been without a fulltime commissioner since Dr. Dudley W. Hargrave resigned last August.

Dr. John A. Deegan Jr., of Middletown District Health office, has been appointed acting commissioner of health. Unable to act on a full-time basis, the Board appointed Dr. Josephson deputy in charge. Dr. Josephson received $100 a week salary as deputy commissioner.

Other routine business was transacted, the board authorized use of budget moneys, approved tax rates and tax rolls.

An organization meeting of the board will be held Thursday evening, January 5 at 8 p.m., at which time a chairman for the year 1961 will be elected and other routine business transacted.

Robert A. Phinney (R), 11th Ward, present chairman, appears to be the candidate to succeed himself.

Estimate Crosby Loss at $100,000 In Dutchess Fire

Several horses were saved by employees Sunday morning as fire of undetermined origin swept horse stables on the Fishkill Plains estate of Everett N. Crosby, brother of Bing Crosby.

Dutchess County Sheriff Lawrence Quinlan told The Freeman the Crosby's estimated the loss in excess of $100,000.

Daniel Steadman, an employee on the estate, discovered the fire at about 8:30 a.m. on Jan. 1 and summoned firemen from nearby communities. Sheriff Quinlan said the barn was completely destroyed.

Starving Child Found Near Body Of Dead Mother

NEW YORK (AP)—Three-year-old Patricia McKiernan lay in critical condition in Misericordia Hospital today after a holiday ordeal of horror and starvation.

A Housing Authority patrolman found her Monday in a Bronx apartment, sitting by her mother's body, staring blankly and shivering.

Her mother, Jennie McKiernan, 33, lay on the floor. She had been dead for days of a heart attack.

The child was so emaciated and dehydrated she was unable to walk or talk.

A Christmas tree still sparkled with tinsel in the living room. Under it were Patricia's doll and other toys.

Patrolman James Fortuno took her to the hospital, where she was given clear soup and milk.

Fortuno had gone to the apartment at the request of relatives who knew of Mrs. McKiernan's heart condition and were worried because they had not been able to reach her. Mrs. McKiernan's husband died three years ago and she and Patricia lived on social security payments.

A medical examiner said Mrs. McKiernan had been dead at least five days.

AMERICAN MENU

Eggplant, Cheese Flavorful Combo

VERSATILE eggplant teams up with a cheese sauce for a very appetizing dish. Bacon slices add a side attraction.

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Eggplant has many uses, each adding variety and flavor appeal to a menu. One of the more popular ways to prepare this vegetable is to slice and fry in butter and serve with a tangy cheese sauce.

Eggplant With Cheese Sauce (Makes 8 servings)

1 cup pancake mix
1/4 teaspoon onion salt
1 large eggplant
Butter or margarine
Cheese Sauce
1/2 cup milk
1 cup grated sharp cheddar cheese
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon paprika

Chopped parsley
Bacon slices

Combine pancake mix and onion salt. Pare eggplant and slice into 1/2-inch pieces. Dip into pancake mix. Pan-fry in butter, over low heat, until soft.

For cheese sauce, combine milk, cheese and seasonings in a saucepan; simmer until cheese is melted, stirring frequently.

Arrange eggplant on platter; pour cheese sauce down center of slices; sprinkle with chopped parsley. Place cooked bacon slices along edge of platter.

Carrots on Toast With Bacon Cheese Sauce (Yield: 4 servings)

20 small carrots
1 cup boiling water
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons bacon drippings
2 tablespoons flour
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup carrot cooking water
1/4 cup grated sharp cheddar cheese

1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
1/8 teaspoon ground black pepper
Salt, to taste

Wash and pare carrots. Place in saucepan with boiling water and salt. Cover and cook until crisp-tender, 10 to 12 minutes. Drain and reserve liquid drippings in a saucepan. Blend in flour. Add 1/2 cup each, milk and carrot cooking water and mix well. Cook, stirring constantly, until sauce is medium thickness. Stir in cheese, fresh lemon juice, pepper, and salt to taste. Place 5 carrots on a slice of toast and top with the sauce. Garnish each serving with 2 strips crisp bacon and a sprig of parsley.

Art Treasures Pass Through U.S. On Way to Poland

DERBY LINE, Vt. (AP)—A multimillion-dollar art treasure crossed the Canadian border into the United States today on its way back to Poland. It had been moved about for more than 20 years to keep it out of the hands of first the Nazis and then the Communists.

Two huge moving vans, accompanied by several cars, reached U.S. customs at Derby Line shortly before 6 a.m. A Royal Canadian Mounted Police escort handed over responsibility for the shipment to Vermont State Troopers.

Tried for Years

For more than a dozen years Poland's Communist government has been trying to obtain custody of the collection, valued at $50 million or more. It includes tapestries, gold-encrusted coronation robes of Polish kings, jeweled swords and other items including a gold saddle.

Officials in charge of the convoy declined information about its destination or its route across New England. They indicated they would have been happier if there were less public knowledge of the shipment.

One of the van drivers expressed surprise when a newsman told him of the value of the shipment he was hauling. He said he had not been told what his cargo was.

Signed Agreement

Antoine Roy, Quebec Province archivist, finally signed an agreement last Saturday for the return of the treasures to the Wawel Polish State Museum at Cracow.

The agreement was announced Monday night by the executive committee of Polish National Unity, an organization of Poles abroad.

The treasure, in 24 blue trunks, was taken from the Provincial Museum on the Plains of Abraham.

M. Dobrosielski, a deputy of the Polish ambassador to the United States, said the treasure would be taken to Boston and loaded on a Polish ship there.

The treasures were removed from Poland for safekeeping at the start of World War II. Two representatives of the Polish government in exile brought them to Canada in 1940. They were moved from one hiding place to another.

Ordered Transferred

In 1948 Premier Maurice Duplessis of Quebec ordered them transferred at night to the provincial museum when he heard that some of the treasures might be sent back to Poland.

Merger Approved Of New Paltz And Local Bank

Final approval for the consolidation of The State of New York National Bank and The Huguenot National Bank of New Paltz has been received from the Comptroller of the Currency and the consolidation of the two banking institutions became effective as of midnight Saturday.

The Huguenot National Bank of New Paltz will be known as The Huguenot National Branch of The State of New York National Bank of Kingston. Consolidation of the banks was approved at a shareholders meeting.

To handle the increasing volume of business, a new electronic Burroughs machine, the first installed in a Kingston bank, will take over the work of posting accounts, while another electronic machine will be used to take trial balances.

These machines will be used to do the bookkeeping at the central point in the main banking house at 301 Wall Street where eventually all bookkeeping for the main bank and all branch banks will be done. Bookkeeping at the New Paltz branch will be transferred to the Kingston office by March.

Electronic posting is done on the Burroughs Sensitronic bookkeeping machine automatically, while the second machine automatically takes off trial balances, eliminating manual operation of former semi-automatic machines.

In addition to the main bank at 301 Wall Street, corner of Wall and John Streets, State of New York National Bank will have three branches, the Albany Avenue Branch, the National Ulster Branch at 300 Wall Street and The Huguenot National Branch at New Paltz.

Suffers Injury To Eye When Gun Explodes

A 32-year-old Hyde Park man suffered a severe injury of his right eye Monday at 11:15 a.m., while shooting at a clay pigeon near his home on Quaker Lane.

Trooper Edward Anderson, of Rhinebeck, identified the injured man as Ronald William Winters, who was in company of his cousin, Edward Sullivan, 19, of Tenafly, N. J., at the time of the accident.

The trooper said Winters was testing a 12-gauge shotgun he recently purchased when a breech block explosion occurred in the gun. The bolt of the shotgun hit Winters near his right eye.

Winters was taken to the Northern Dutchess Hospital for treatment and later was transferred to St. Francis' Hospital in Poughkeepsie where he underwent treatment by Dr. Irving Cohen, an eye specialist.

Newburgh Youth Stabbed at Party

A 17-year-old Newburgh youth was seriously injured early New Year's Day when he was reportedly stabbed in the abdomen and neck by a 15-year-old boy, according to Highland State Police. Trooper Wallace Mahan said the boy and Garner Williams Jr., of 244 North Water Street, Newburgh, were attending a New Year's Eve party at the home of Robert Whited at Marlborough when the stabbing occurred. Williams was taken to St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, where his condition was described as serious Sunday, according to troopers. The boy will be petitioned into Children's Court to face a charge of juvenile delinquency.

Issues Revolved Around Slavery

Failure to Use the Machinery Of Democracy Brought Civil War

Editor's Note — Next Sunday Americans begin the commemoration of the great war that rent the Union a century ago. Was this actually an "irrepressible conflict" or a tragedy of errors that could have been avoided? In the first of a four-part series adapted from an address delivered before The Associated Press Managing Editors convention, one of the nation's leading Civil War historians discusses that question and its meaning for Americans today.

By BRUCE CATTON

Written For The Associated Press

It is sometimes said that the Civil War came because the machinery of democracy had broken down. That is not quite true. It came because the machinery of democracy was not used.

To see how this happened, go back one century to the presidential election of 1860.

An enormous issue disturbed

America's democracy in that year. Like most issues human beings have to handle it was extremely complicated and its deeper implications were not always clear, but in the main it had to do with the existence in America of the institution of chattel slavery. There were of course other issues in that year, but in one way or another they all seemed to revolve around this question of slavery.

Had Different Effects

There was no unanimity of feeling, because the institution itself affected different people in such different ways.

In the cotton states of the Deep South slavery in 1860 was a going concern, immensely profitable to a small but powerful group, buttressed by all sorts of prejudices and habits of mind; an institution, furthermore, that was so deeply imbedded in the social and economic framework of the cotton South that no one could see how to get rid of it without causing a shattering convulsion.

In the more northerly tier of southern states slavery was slowly but visibly withering on the vine. It was still something everyone was adjusted to, and people tended to approach it with their emotions rather than with their minds, but it was not quite the same here as in the Deep South.

Regarded as South's Problem

North of the Mason and Dixon line slavery had been discarded altogether, and more and more people were coming to feel that it ought to be abolished everywhere as speedily as possible.

Sentiment was by no means united, however; there were many people in the North who disliked slavery but were perfectly willing to go along with it on the ground that it was really a problem for the Southerners.

Too Hot to Handle

For a long time this slavery problem had seemed too hot to handle, and consequently it had not been handled. Yet there was not necessarily anything to it, in the spring of 1860, that would force the different states of the Union to go to war with one another—not that would compel 600,000 young men to die before the nation could come to a final decision about it.

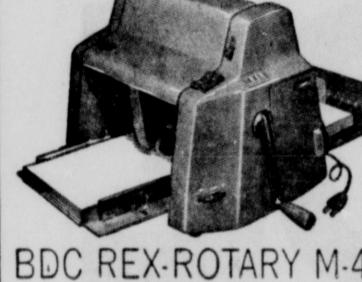

As a matter of fact, this issue was peripheral even in 1860. The big argument centered on the question of slavery in the territories. Not even the Republicans argued that the federal government

Sees Lower Milk Prices for 6 Months

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York-New Jersey milk marketing administrator foresees lower farm prices in the area for the first six months of 1961.

C. J. Bianford, the administrator, said Monday the uniform farm prices are expected to average 11 cents per hundredweight (46.5 quarts) under those for the first six months of last year. Prices to be paid by handlers for fluid milk (class 1-a) are expected to average 20 cents per hundredweight less than in 1960.

Milk production is expected to show an increase averaging five per cent.

Bianford said he expected the biggest drop in the uniform farm price to be 20 cents per hundredweight for the current month. He said the price for fluid milk may drop 23 cents per hundredweight this month and in March.

Doctor Is Freed On Bail Awaiting Trial on Spying

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Robert Soble, a former staff member of the Rockland State Hospital at Orangeburg, has been freed in $10,000 bail while awaiting trial on charges of wartime spying for Russia.

Soble was released from jail Saturday after his bail was reduced from $75,000 to allow him to receive medical treatment for what was described as a serious blood ailment.

He was reported near death from chronic lymphatic leukemia, or cancer of the blood.

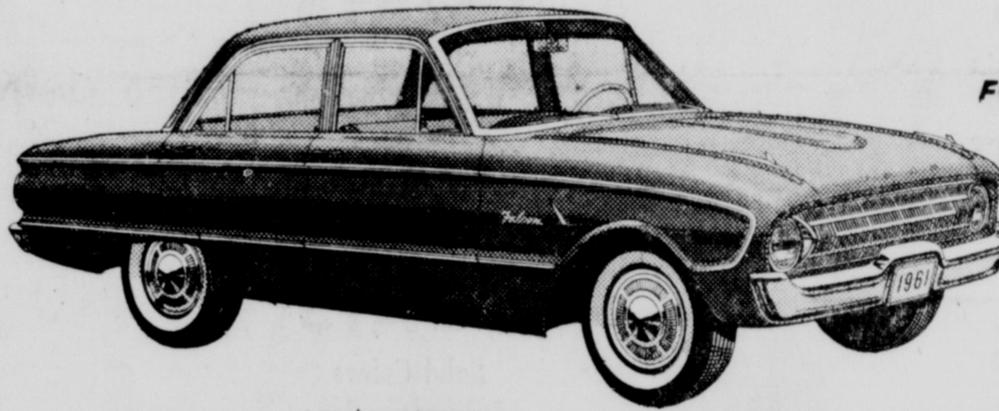

The doctor is a brother of confessed spy Jack Soble, who is serving a prison term.

Federal Judge Edmund L. Palmieri reduced the bail because, he said, of the defendant's health.

Soble's lawyer said he was pressing for an early trial.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

One item interests me in book called "Old Steamboat Days" which was mentioned the other day. It was published by the Grafton Press in 1907 just before the Hudson Fulton celebration.

One item on page 28 may interest folks in Saugerties. It reads in part "of the many old-timers on the Hudson, the ancient and odd looking steam ferryboat Air Line, that has been plying between Saugerties and Tivoli since 1857 . . . For half a century this old boat has been doing duty . . . Capt. John M. Burnett has run the boat for 27 years, and Charles Taylor who began with him as engineer kept his post for 22 years before he died and was succeeded by George Mower who is still on duty. The deckhand, James Dickson, began to work on the boat as a boy and is now, after ten years of service, a grown man." This was of course written in 1907 or earlier.

On same page another item which should interest folks in Rondout and Sleighsburg and many others "In the genus steamboat, species ferry, one of the most interesting specimens extant is the old chain craft still doing duty on the creek at Rondout. The chain ferries, so numerous in the years gone by, have nearly all disappeared and certainly the ones at Rondout is an antique. The boat is named the Riverside, but is more affectionately alluded to by the natives as the Skilly Pot."

Some half a century ago this ferryboat was an oddity, no doubt it would have attracted no end of attention now. Perhaps some folks would find it convenient even now to go across at that point and some would go just for pleasure. One of the cabins could have been converted into a modern soda fountain for refreshments on a boat.

The author tells about old river captains. "Before the days of a la carte restaurants on the boats, the captain had his table in the dining saloon, and the dinner hour aboard the steamboat was one of the features of the trip."

Perhaps some of the readers may be related to some of the captains he names, "Capt. Samuel Jenkins commanded the Clermont after she was renamed the North River in 1808. The Car of Neptune was in command of Captain Rooback in 1810 and the Paragon, in 1813, was in charge of Captain Wiswall." These were the pioneer steamboat captains of the river.

One of the captains in the 1830's and 40's was Captain R. G. Crutenden of the Constellation. He used to boast he never lost a trip or a life, had made 1,162 trips with the old boat and carried over 172,000 passengers. Most of the captains of those years lived well past 60, the author wrote.

Captain Bunker, who ran the Fulton up the Hudson during the war of 1812, died at the age of 75 in 1847. Capt. Samuel Wiswall, was 63 when he died in New York in 1836. He was buried in the Hudson. He lists some of the river captains of 1847. Capt. J. S. Odell of the Columbus; Capt. Samuel Johnson of the Thomas Powell; Capt. John Samuels of the Emerald to name a few.

On page 63 he tells about the best known river captains one being of course, Capt. A. L. Anderson who had the Mary Powell built for him and commanded her for years. He says she was a smart and lucky boat. She was owned by the Anderson family for years, and before 1907 bought by the Day Line and A. E. Anderson, a captain in his own right and son of original captain and owner was still on it.

Burns to Broadway

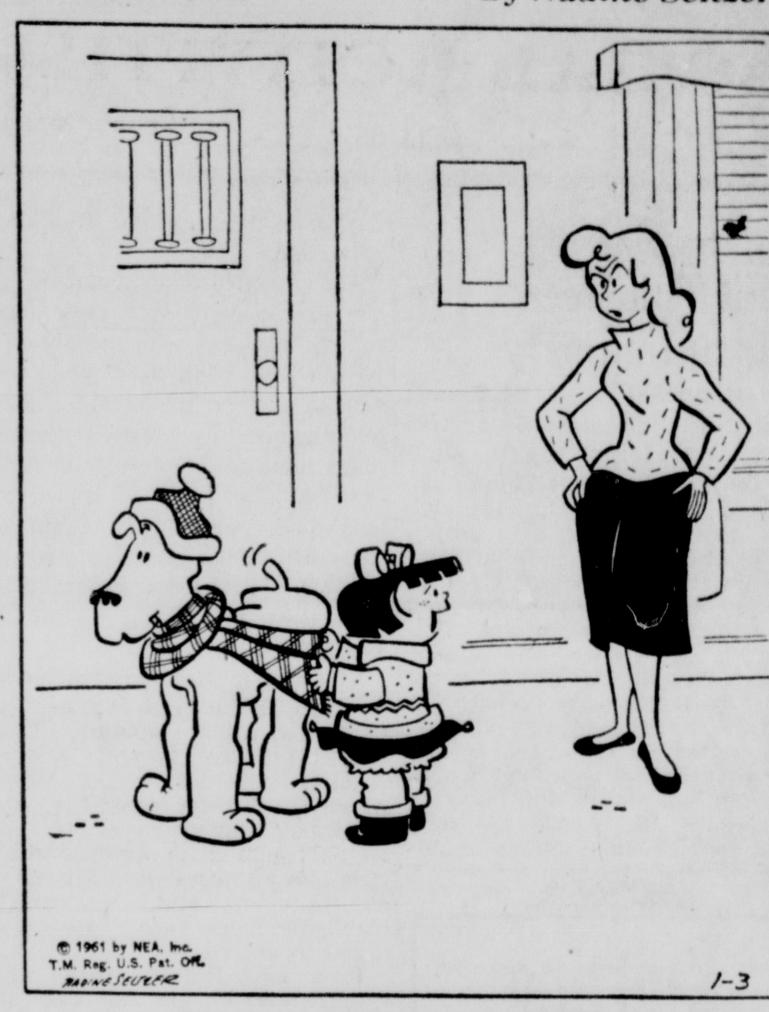

NEW YORK, (AP) — Veteran Comic George Burns is coming to Broadway — as a director. "Show Girl," a revue starring Carol Channing, is the Burns assignment. Scheduled debut is Jan. 14. Burns has been making occasional appearances on stage since his wife, Gracie Allen, retired from show business two years ago.

Snore No More

CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP) — Is snoring a noise of protest? The Journal of the American Institute of Hypnosis, in a recent issue received here, says "snoring . . . can be an expression of hostility. The snorer is angry at someone, something, or even himself."

A Dad Is a Dad Is a Dad —Ad Writers to Contrary

By RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

For years makers of automobiles, TV sets, kitchen appliances, and so on have been harping on the theme of what a father "owes" his family in the way of material possessions.

Now an insurance company has taken the final step with an advertisement that begins:

"Have you considered this brutal fact? When you go to the hospital your family might be better off if you died there rather than return home unable to work."

Somehow I suspect the insurance company that had the bad taste to put out an ad like that will be hearing from angry wives all over the country, saying in no uncertain terms that the head of their family is more than a pay check and that financial security isn't the only kind of security important to a family.

We may have become a security-conscious nation, but certainly we aren't so money-in-the-bank conscious that we can read an ad like that without having our blood reach a slow boil.

Surely we all know and want our husbands and fathers to know that a home without a father is a broken home—and that no amount of financial security can make it whole.

A family with a father physically unable to hold a job may be in a bad way financially. But it is still a "whole" family and it can be a far happier one than a family that has no financial worries—but no father, either.

It has been easy to laugh at the ads that imply a father is letting his family down if he doesn't provide them with a TV set, a vacation trip, a new home—or whatever an advertiser happens to be trying to sell.

But when they start suggesting to Papa that his family might be better off with him dead than alive with no income, it's time to let the advertising copy writers know they've gone too far.

For answers to some of the questions in husband-wife relationships, order your copy of Ruth Millett's new booklet, "Happier Wives: (hints for husbands)." Just send 25 cents to Ruth Millett Reader Service, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N. Y.

Junior Marrieds
Will Volunteer
Aid at Infirmary

A statement by Mrs. E. Ronald Rifenburg, chairman of service projects performed by the Junior Married Women's Club of the YWCA, announces that the club has undertaken to be of assistance at the Ulster County Infirmary. Mrs. Rifenburg's report states there is a poignant need here for volunteer workers. Primarily, help from the Junior Marrieds will be given in the therapy room in the preparation and distribution of supplies to the patients. It is hoped that the presence of volunteer workers may enable the Infirmary to expand its current therapy program which now offers hand-crafts on Monday and Thursday afternoons.

On any afternoon members of the club may provide auto trips for the patients who are able to go out and visit those who are shut-in in an effort to more adequately occupy the patients' many hours of leisure. The Junior Marrieds make an appeal to individuals and other organizations to inquire into the needs of this local institution and to join with them in giving volunteer assistance.

The Junior Marrieds will next meet on Thursday at 8 p.m. for its annual private auction. This benefit sale always adds a substantial sum for the treasury which the finance committee allocates at the year's end to selected community organizations. It is also an occasion of hilarious entertainment and the newer club members are especially urged to attend.

It is now time to make arrangements for joining one of the Swim and Slim courses available through the YWCA. Classes have been adapted to suit most talent and time schedules. As a special encouragement for young mothers to participate, the YW will maintain a morning baby sitting service for pre-schoolers. The YW office has information about registration.

The YWCA is a Red Feather Agency.

Face Fact: Today's World Robs Children of Our Time

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

He is the father of a small boy whom he obviously loves. However, he can spend only catch-as-catch-can time with him. For this father's profession is one that requires him to report for work at 5 a. m. and may hold him until 10 p. m.—times when young Tate is in bed. But on lucky days actor Tom Ewell will get home at 6:30 p. m.; and he and young Tate have a while together.

Said I to the star of TV's "Tom Ewell Show":

"The child psychology experts would tell you that this problem doesn't matter. They would say that it's the 'quality' not the 'quantity' of time you spend with Tate that matters. Do you believe that?"

Said Tom Ewell to me:

Good Attendance Marks Opening of Week of Prayer

A splendid attendance marked the first meeting of the Week of United Prayer Monday night at the Bethel Assembly of God. The chairman was the host pastor, the Rev. Dean Harrison, and the speaker was the Rev. Willard D. Crunkilton, pastor of the Christian and Missionary Alliance.

The scheduled speaker, the Rev. Willis Scott, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, was ill and unable to appear, so he will be the speaker Friday evening at the Salvation Army, replacing the Rev. Mr. Crunkilton.

The churches of the city were well represented, and seven pastors were present.

This is the first annual Week of United Prayer and the general chairman, the Rev. Mr. Crunkilton pointed out that when this was begun in the churches of Niagara Falls, it was a strong factor in uniting pastors and people of the varied denominations. He added they are having the fifth annual such week now and their program is quite effective.

Tonight the service will be held at the Free Methodist Church, 155 Tremper Avenue, and the speaker will be Major Foster J. Meitrott of the Salvation Army. His theme will be, "Prayer and its Relation to the Local Church."

Tomorrow evening the service will be held at the Church of the Nazarene, Elmendorf and Wiltwyck Avenues, with the Rev. Olney E. Cook pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church as the speaker on Prayer and Its Problems.

All services are held at 7:30, and continue each night through Friday.

The host pastor is the man nightly, and special musical numbers are offered by members of the congregation where services are held.

All who are interested may attend.

Your Middle Age Need Not Be One of Worry, Tension

What are the big causes of tension in middle age?

The same as in any other time of life—emotional insecurity and threat.

So says Harry Milt, public relations director for the National Association for Mental Health, in a Public Affairs pamphlet entitled "Middle Age—Threat or Promise?"

But, says Milt, you can do something about this, if you start early enough.

"Middle age can be a dead end and it can be filled with tension, bitterness, resentment, frustration and remorse," Milt warns.

"But it doesn't have to be."

"It can be a gateway to new meaning in life, to inspiration and creativity, to many years of enjoyable living. It can be, if you are willing to take the trouble to make it that."

Milt recommends community service as a good way to shake what he terms "middle-age blues."

"You have the time," he says. "You have wisdom, experience and maturity. There are dozens of organizations that need you."

"They include the health and safety organizations working to combat killing and crippling diseases and accidents; the civic groups working for the elimination of religious and racial discrimination; the charitable organizations working for the support of hospitals and shelters for the sick and needy; religious organizations and the political party of your choice."

And you still can work for the Boy and Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and other youth groups.

Milt also recommends training yourself for a job that may bring you more success and satisfaction than you now have.

In his opinion, the best way to avoid emotional troubles in middle age is to diversify your life.

"Don't let absorption with your main life's work force out all other interests," he advises.

"Become involved in activities which will keep you interested and moving after your main life goals are accomplished."

His pamphlet, may be ordered from Public Affairs Pamphlets, 22 E. 38th St., New York City 16. Price: 25 cents.

A Kingston man pleaded guilty to reckless driving and was fined $25 following a two-car mishap New Year's Eve on Route 9W near Stonewall Hotel, Barclay Heights.

John F. Monahan, 34, of 16 Westrum Street, a coast guardman stationed at St. George, Staten Island was summoned before Saugerties Police Justice G. Thomas Rea Jr.

Village Patrolman Rex H. Deane Jr. reported Monahan's 1956 station wagon was proceeding north on Route 9W when in contact with the 1960 sedan of Milton Armstrong of Treis Terrace traveling south. The Monahan vehicle swerved to the left lane and sideswiped the Armstrong car, continued off the highway and struck a tree at the entrance of the Stonewall Hotel, Patrolman Deane said.

Mrs. Alice Armstrong was a passenger in her husband's car at the time, Saugerties police reported.

No injuries were reported to police. The mishap occurred at about 9:15 p. m. Saturday.

South Plans for Overtricks

BY OSWALD JACOBY

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

West's opening spade lead is doubtful strategy at either duplicate or rubber bridge. With a bad hand it nearly always pays to open your partner's suit and hope for the best.

At rubber bridge South will undoubtedly run off his nine tricks in diamonds and spades, whereupon East will take the last four.

At duplicate South must study the overtrick possibilities. He can see that three no-trump is a normal contract and that everyone else will be looking at that same nice holding in diamonds and spades so South will try for more. The best play is to win the first trick with dummy's ace of spades and to lead the deuce of hearts.

If East is alert, and most duplicate players are alert, he will go right up with the ace of hearts and cash his three good clubs to hold South to that same nine tricks.

Suppose, though, that East is both alert and ready to gamble. He will rise with the ace of hearts and then lead the three of clubs.

This time the gamble will succeed, South won't be clairvoyant. He will play a low club, West will make his ten and a club return will set the hand.

Eddyville Girl Hurt In Vehicle Mishap

A 17-year-old Eddyville girl was treated and released from Benedictine Hospital early Saturday morning following a one-car mishap near Sawkill.

Mrs. Marjory Roberti, reportedly suffered a possible sprained back, was treated and released, Kingston troopers said.

Mrs. Roberti was a passenger in a 1956 pickup truck operated by her husband, Nicholas Roberti, 19, also of Eddyville. The truck proceeding west on Sawkill Road, skidded across the highway, struck a utility pole with the left side of the vehicle, troopers said.

The mishap reported by Troopers William Wiedemann and Carl Robe occurred at 2 a. m.

Basilio Gives It Another Try Against Ortega

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

How much does Carmen Basilio have left? The 33-year-old former middleweight and welterweight champ will try to provide the answer Saturday night when he faces Gaspar Ortega, the sad-faced Mexican, in Madison Square Garden.

Basilio, stopped in the 12th round by Gene Fullmer in a NBA middleweight title bout June 29, claims he can get back to the welter class he once ruled. However, for the Ortega match he will have to get down only as far as 153 pounds, five under the middle limit but eight over the welter class line of 147 pounds. He weighed 156½ for the Fullmer match.

If Basilio whips Ortega, he'll goad his way to it, matchmaker Teddy Brenner of the Garden says he plans to move him toward a welter title bout with Benny (Kid) Paret.

The Garden bout is part of the regular Saturday night network (ABC) television schedule. Ring time is 10 p.m. (EST).

Basilio and Miss Washburn met during preholiday excursions.

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

PHILADELPHIA — (NEA) — Power versus the pass?

That has been the question in football for nearly a half century, or since Gus Dorais, Knute Rockne and Notre Dame showed the country what could be accomplished by air.

Well, Norman Van Brocklin and the Eagles won a big case for the pitcher with the National League championship... by four points and nine yards. That's how close the Packers were to the Philadelphia goal when time ran out.

Green Bay had the well balanced attack with a violent running game complementing the throwing of Bert Starr, a pretty fair passer.

The narrow difference between the clubs was that the Eagles had the pin point pitching of Norm Van Brocklin, who retires as the greatest passer in the game. Where the Dutchman hit targets when the Eagles needed them to be hit most, Starr was a little off. Had Starr's passes led the receiver or followed him just a bit on several occasions the result could have been different.

"That's why a pro club is going precisely nowhere today without a stickup passer," stressed Keith Molesworth who did so much to introduce the modern T with man-in-motion as the Chicago Bears' quarterback in the mid-1930's and is now personnel director of the Baltimore Colts. "And a standup passer is hard to find."

That's why you don't require an extra finger or two to count the truly great football pitchers through the years. You start running out of names after listing Sammy Baugh, Sid Luckman, Cecil Isbell, Bobby Layne, Charley Connerly, Otto Graham, Frankie Albert, Y. A. Tittle, Van Brocklin and Johnny Unitas.

Just what makes a great passer?

"Among numerous other qualities," said Webb Ewbank of the Colts, "he has to be blessed with peripheral vision in order to pick up the defensive picture instantly."

"First he has to be able to throw," said Molesworth, "Then only experience can give him the knowledge of how to exploit modern multiple defenses by knowing precisely where his receiver is going to be at an exact second in an area not being too tightly defended. Next comes play selection, taking advantage of what he sees in front of him."

Van Brocklin was asked about this at the Eagles' victory party high up in the Warwick Hotel.

"If the young quarterback can't throw," asserted The Dutchman, "get rid of him. He can be taught to exploit defenses but he has to use the arm with him."

Van Brocklin skillfully set up the Eagles' attack by employing fullback and halfback draw plays. He calls them anti-rush plays. When the Packers duly respected the draw plays and weren't rushing so hard, Van opened up with his passing, short ones at first and then the long ones to Tommy McDonald and Pete Retzlaff.

Throwing long ones, the Dutchman used a little swing pass to Ted Dean as a safety valve. Completed long passes set up more short ones and in the end, he had the Eagles running.

"Any time a first class modern quarterback has the protection and time, he'll hit the receiver," concluded Keith Molesworth.

Norm Van Brocklin sure did.

Washington Second Team Ever to Repeat in Rose Bowl

Huskies Smash
Minnesota Myth
By 17-7 Margin

Bob Schloredt Repeats
Most Valuable Player

By JACK CLARY

Associated Press Sports Writer

Washington's Huskies are the toast of the football world for the second consecutive year today after winning the Rose Bowl game with a sparkling display of all-around excellence against national champion Minnesota.

The Huskies, who last year swamped Big Ten champion Wisconsin 44-8 and outdistanced just about everyone outside the state of Washington, zipped past the Gophers Monday 17-7 to become the second team ever to succeed itself as Rose Bowl champion.

Not to be outdone in heroics was a solid 21-14 victory by Missouri over Navy, which included holding All-America back Joe Bellino to only four yards rushing. Duke answered critics of its selection as a Cotton Bowl participant by upsetting Arkansas 7-6 while Mississippi struck fast and had enough defensively to hold off pesky Rice and win the Sugar Bowl 146 as nearly 400,000 watched the four games in person and millions more saw them on television.

The Huskies used the same cast of characters who appeared in the Wisconsin debacle last Jan. 1. Quarterback Bob Schloredt, back for the first time since breaking a collarbone last Oct. 15, halfbacks Don McKeta and George Fleming and fullback Ray Jackson, Kurt Genger and Barry Bullard stood their ground against a heavier Minnesota line.

Schloredt Honored

Schloredt, the first player ever to be chosen most valuable player twice in a row in Rose Bowl history, passed three yards to Brent Wooten for one score and got another on a quarterback sneak, setting up the latter with a 31-yard run.

McKeta's two key defensive plays against Gopher quarterback Sandy Stephens deep in Washington territory also were key factors. He threw him for a 13-yard loss on a third-down play at the Huskies' 6 and then on the next play intercepted his pass on the goal line.

Fleming kicked a record (school and Rose Bowl) 44-yard field goal and gave the Minnesota defense fits with his outside running as Washington piled up a 17-0 half-time lead before 97,314.

Missouri, while holding Bellino on the ground, saw him make a spectacular grab of a 27-yard touchdown pass by Hal Spooner. Earlier the Tigers had to snap back from a 98-yard run by end Greg Mather with an intercepted lateral.

They countered it with a 90-yard TD run by Norm Beal with an intercepted pass when Navy again threatened. A subsequent extra point by Bill Tobin put Missouri ahead for good.

Kennedy Watches

Donnie Smith and Ron Taylor scored the other Missouri touchdowns in a game played before 71,217, including President-elect John F. Kennedy.

Jake Gibbs, Mississippi's All-American quarterback, scored both Mississippi touchdowns—the first before the game was five minutes old.

Duke's lonesome end, Tee Moorman, was lonesome in the Cotton Bowl end zone and quarterback Don Altman hit him with a nine-yard scoring toss in the final minutes as 74,000 looked on in Dallas.

"I was expecting to throw to the halfback but Tee Moorman was wide open—I couldn't believe it," Altman said afterward.

"I was supposed to go straight down but when (Arkansas halfback) Lance Alworth moved with the play, I cut back into the open," Moorman said.

Alworth's 49-yard punt return got Arkansas' only score.

Auburn Win Over Florence 15th Straight for Tigers

By DON WEISS

Associated Press Sports Writer

Coach Joel Eaves' Auburn Tigers, a dead-eye bunch that counts it a bad game unless half their shots connect, are sharpened to a peak for the long push toward another Southeastern Conference championship.

The Tigers, who swept to the SEC crown last season by winning their last nine games behind blistering accuracy, ran their two-season streak to 15 Monday night with a 76-50 breeze over Florence State.

It was the 36th straight home triumph and the last warm-up for the Tigers, who get down to the business of defending their conference championship Saturday against Mississippi State. They did it with the "make-each-shot-count" formula that Eaves has preached since he took the Auburn job.

After the sparkling performance Monday night in which he bucketed 23 field goals in 37 attempts and 10 of 20 free throws in leading the Warriors to a 131-115 victory over New York, Chamberlain said it wasn't his best game of the season. The victory left Philadelphia only one game behind eastern division leader Boston.

Elgin Baylor hit for 42 points in Los Angeles, 123-113 victory over Detroit in the opener of the doubleheader.

Oscar Robertson scored 42 points, as his Cincinnati Royals beat Syracuse 126-125 at Utica, N.Y., on two free throws the Big O sank with 27 seconds left.

Rogers' Six-gun Not So Trusty

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Movie cowboy Roy Rogers had a little trouble with his shooting irons while riding a float in the Tournament of Roses parade.

His trusty six-gun, loaded with blanks, went "phft!" almost every other time he fired it.

Later, when the weapon was functioning more regularly, a horseman rode up to the float and asked Rogers to hold his fire down to a reasonable barrage. Seems the rider's mount was a bit gun-shy.

Chamberlain's 58 Best of Season

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain of Philadelphia has come up with his biggest point production in a single league game this season, 58.

BETWEEN YOU 'N' ME

by TITURRAY

PHILADELPHIA — (NEA) — How can a guy with a wife and three kids and a swimming pool quit football without a definite job prospect, as Norm Van Brocklin says he hasn't?

"You got to make a move," says football's No. 1 quarterback, "and you got to admit this was a helluva time to make it."

But Norm made his decision to quit, not in mid-season when the story first broke that 1960 was his finale, but last summer. He'd retired once before, after the 1957 campaign, disgruntled with the way Sid Gillman coached him at Los Angeles, sending him to a reasonable barrage. Seems the rider's mount was a bit gun-shy.

"Yeah," nods The Dutchman, "but that wasn't real quitting—just a gimmick to get me out of Los Angeles."

Where he really wanted to go was Pittsburgh, to play for Buddy Parker, but the Eagles beat the Steelers to the old pro slingshot...

and now that it's rumored that Van Brocklin will step into a coaching job (he's admitted feelers from three clubs) Parker offered the first piece of advice to him:

"The first thing you better do, Dutch, is get yourself a quarterback..."

Would you, as the big wing of the Eagles, be tempted to use yourself as a quarterback if things got real desperate for you while coaching?

"That," he answered, "would be real bush."

One of Van's assets is that he doesn't take himself too seriously. On the Rams he used to be known as Giggle Boy, the butt of every joke. Elroy Hirsch once bet him, and won, five dollars that he could bring instant laughter with any corny joke told to Van. A non-running quarterback, he was probably football's slowest man, yet took of twice against the Packers in the title game...

"Well, you see," he grinned, "there was this opening..."

and you know my blistering speed..."

The post-game scene was a crush of successive interviews in the jammed hallway they call a dressing room at archaic Franklin Field. Van Brocklin discarded his usual flippancy to answer questions graciously, thoroughly, fluently (he was persuasive enough to marry his biology teacher at Oregon)...

and with a bit of poignancy because, after all, this was his farewell... until it came time to sign off...

"Excuse me fellas," he said abruptly and headed for the showers. "I gotta wash my back..."

They asked him naturally about his plans to go into coaching and would he consider a college job?

"That's for idiots," he replied curtly, "putting your career in the hands of 18-year-old kids..."

Then what were his plans?

"Right now," he twinkled, "to go down to New Orleans with my wife and stay to the end of the year and lush it up..."

In Van's case, that probably means having a beer or two...

Post-pro stuff: Emlen Tunnell, the native Philadelphian who defended valiantly for the Packers, capsule the new champs. "They got some good players... and they come up with the big play..."

The Lonely End Grabs TD Pass For Blue Devils

By HAROLD V. RATLIFFE

DALLAS (AP) — Lonesome end Tee Moorman, the toe of Art Broning and some little things turned into breaks vindicated Duke's angry Blue Devils with a 7-6 victory over Arkansas in the Cotton Bowl.

The dogged Blue Devils, driving to atone for defeats in their last two games of the regular season, waited until the clock had nearly run its course Monday before they rolled 73 yards for the touchdown that gave them the triumph in their first appearance in the Cotton Bowl.

For a month the lonesome end of Duke, a big fellow who lined up 15 yards away from his mates on every down, had been the major topic. Coach Frank Broyles had told how he feared this maneuver and how tough it would be to stop it.

Broyles was a soothsayer—it was the lonesome end, Moorman, who kept that desperate drive going and it was Moorman, a lonely man in the end zone, who caught Don Altman's nine-yard pass for the touchdown that broke Arkansas' heart.

In UCAL play, Onteora plays at Highland, Marlboro is at Wallkill and New Paltz hosts Rondout Valley. Beacon at Arlington, Cardinal Farley at Roosevelt and Saugerties at Wappingers will make up the DUSO slate for Friday.

The New Paltz Teachers College five has two games on tap. The Hawks will entertain Plattsburgh on Friday night and will journey to C. W. Post for a Saturday attraction.

Repeats Protest, Belgium Should Remain Neutral

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)

—Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold in a sharp protest has called on Belgium again to stay out of the Congo's internal strife.

Hammarskjold published a note to Belgian Ambassador Walter Lordin Monday protesting that Belgium aided Col. Joseph Mobutu's troops by letting them pass through the Belgian-administered trust territory of Ruanda-Urundi to get at rebels in neighboring Kivu Province.

The secretary-general said Belgium's action had violated the U.N. resolution calling on all nations to keep hands off the Congo and leave peacemaking there to the U.N. force.

Hammarskjold demanded Belgium "take immediate and effective measures to insure that there will be no possibility of Belgian authorities in the trust territory of Ruanda-Urundi or elsewhere lending support directly or indirectly to military action by Congolese troops."

He ran into a garage and the policemen captured him.

Linton and Vernie speculated the duck was a tame one and probably had some New Year's eggnog.

Tigers Achieve First Bowl Win In Six Attempts

By WHITNEY MARTIN

Associated Press Sports Writer

MAMIAMI (AP) — Twenty-one years of frustration, during which it sent six teams on fruitless excursions to football bowl games, were at an end for Missouri today.

The Big Eight champions rolled back a spirited Navy team 21-14 in the 27th annual Orange Bowl classic Monday as President-elect John F. Kennedy, an ex-Navy PT boat commander in World War II, looked on the 71,217 other spectators.

It was a victory of crushing, sledghammer offensive power and an alert and rock-ribbed defense.

So impregnable was the Tiger barrier against running plays that Navy wound up with a net of nine yards rushing. Its great All-America back, Joe Bellino, had a net of only four yards in eight carries, although he provided one of the major thrills with his end zone catch of a 27-yard Hal Spooner pass for the second Middle touchdown.

The New Paltz Teachers College five has two games on tap. The Hawks will entertain Plattsburgh on Friday night and will journey to C. W. Post for a Saturday attraction.

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Frank Lane, general manager of the Cleveland Indians, was named general manager of the Kansas City Athletics today.

Lane's appointment was announced at a press conference called by Charles O. Finley, who recently purchased the 52 per cent stock holdings of the baseball club of the late Arnold Johnson.

Lane will succeed Parke Carroll, who has been general manager since the club was moved to Kansas City from Philadelphia in 1955.

Supervisor Molyneaux praised Schwarz for having done "a very fine job for many years on the committee."

There will be no general meeting of the League in January.

At the December meeting of the League, a consensus was reached on a questionnaire connected with administration and coordinated planning for the Delaware River Basin Administration.

On the state continuing responsibility project, the League is again supporting mandatory permanent personal registration to take effect statewide by 1963, and amendment of the house-to-house canvass provisions of the PPR law.

The League is also emphasizing that an annual mail check to determine the residence of every registered voter each year is a necessary and effective safeguard, whereas the mandatory house-to-house canvass, which is supposed to be used to make the same residence determination, is ineffective and wasteful of money and manpower. The League will also continue to support legislation to provide a single permanent primary day to be held on the third Tuesday in June.

Name Mrs. Twine

The League's executive board has appointed Mrs. Elise Twine chairman of the annual Budget committee. Two of the three members of the nominating committee previously named having moved from the area, the board appointed Mrs. Gloria Walker, chairman, and Mrs. Loretta Shekita.

The nominating committee is made up of three non-board members and two board members as follows: Mrs. Walker, chairman; Mrs. Loretta Shekita, Mrs. Ernest Wittner, Mrs. Burke and Mrs. Wells.

The nominating committee does not present the slate directly to the board for approval, but does present the slate directly to the membership 30 days in advance of the annual meeting, in the March Bulletin.
